

November Action Report

www.freedomfirstsociety.org

November 2016

Call to action: In an outrageous capitulation to the forces of cultural destruction, the Senate voted 83 to 13 in June to force women 18 to 26 to register for the draft. Women who turn 18 on or after January 1, 2018 would be required to register. A House Committee had also approved the requirement in April. The measure (the 2017 National Defense Authorization Act) is now in House-Senate conference. There is no time to lose. Contact your representative and senators and tell them there is no way we will tolerate this assault on our nation's daughters.

Breaking Our Will to Resist

There is no failure save in giving up.
— Henry Austin (1858-1912)

The Insiders and the revolutionaries they support have long practiced the ancient Chinese stratagem that the surest way to conquer any enemy is to break his will to resist. Robert Welch emphasized that their efforts were designed “to create such overwhelming confusion, frustration, and despair as to cause even the ablest individual anti-Communists to throw up their hands in a feeling of hopeless inadequacy to the struggle.”

The Insiders employ this strategy regularly to advance their culture war. They want decent Americans to believe that they are simply out of step with the times and that resistance is useless and potentially even criminal. To achieve that impact, they use their dominance over the communication media to create the illusion of mainstream support for their cultural revolution.

Radical Feminism

In April of last year, Secretary of State Hillary Clinton delivered the keynote address at the Women in the World Summit in New York City. Her remarks promoted this deception:

Some of you, I know were with me in Beijing back in 1995 at the United Nations 4th World Conference on Women. Representatives from 189 countries came together to declare with one voice that human rights are women's rights and women's rights are human rights, once and for all. And finally, the world began to listen. [Emphasis added.]

Correction: The UN's 1995 World

In This Report

1 Breaking Our Will to Resist

3 Save Our Constitution!

Curb the Courts

4 Website Promotion

Conference on Women was organized and dominated by radical feminists. Julie Dorf of the International Gay and Lesbian Human Rights Commission boasted that, with the help of the U.S.-led coalition, “we exceeded beyond our expectations” in advancing the homosexual agenda.

As one conservative writer reported, the Platform of Action issued by the conference “was largely the handiwork of Bella Abzug and her Women’s Environment and Development Organization (WEDO). Abzug, an unreconstructed Marxist, worked closely with Timothy Wirth (CFR), the Clinton Administration’s Assistant Secretary of State for Global Affairs, to design a document which would integrate feminist demands into the UN’s framework for ‘sustainable development.’”

The claim that the “world began to listen” to the propaganda emanating from this conference of the Internationalist-created United Nations is simply audacious balderdash. Unfortunately, most Americans who get their news through the Establishment-managed channels of communication have no conception of the orchestration behind various leftist propaganda campaigns, particularly in the culture war.

To break resistance, the revolutionaries are more than willing to use intimidation and even force. Hillary continued:

All the laws we’ve passed don’t count for much if they’re not enforced.... Laws have to be backed up with resources and political will and deep-seated cultural codes, religious beliefs and structural biases have to be changed. [Emphasis added.]

Register Women for the Draft?

In May, the House passed its version of the massive 2017 National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA). Fortunately, a committee provision requiring women to register for the draft had been stripped from the bill. However, in June the Senate approved its version of the NDAA, which included the requirement, by a vote of 83 to 13. The bill then went to conference and may be taken up again in the lame duck session after the November election.

Unfolding attack on religion: At last year’s Women in the World Summit in NYC, Hillary Clinton said that “religious beliefs” have to give way to the militant definition of “rights.”

As they did with “homosexual” marriage, the forces promoting cultural disintegration will keep hammering until they get their way, and then they will up the ante again. There is no time to waste. We cannot let them enjoy soft opposition while they continue to destroy. We must counterattack and expose them, their deceptions, and their totalitarian ambitions.

Ignored History

The late Brigadier General Andrew J. Gatsis, one of America’s most decorated soldiers, worked hard to expose the long-range revolutionary planning to conscript women. In a 1987 analysis, he wrote:

The pace of sex integration accelerated during the Carter years.... Mr. Carter and many of our senators said women would not be put in combat if drafted; yet, on November 16, 1979, I testified in Congress before the House Armed Services Subcommittee for Military Personnel against President Carter’s proposal to do just that through a Department of Defense proposal....

The former Assistant Secretary of Defense for Equal Opportunity, Kathleen Carpenter, one of the most avid women liberationists in the Carter-controlled Pentagon, was replaced in the Reagan Administration by Dr. Sharon Lord. Lord, a strong feminist and former president of NOW in Tennessee, continued to advance Carpenter’s policies and, after only three months in office, recommended that women be placed in direct combat roles....

Don’t be deceived: The registration of women is always just around the corner.

It is outrageous to see how many of our representatives and senators are now defending this step. Note how the Establishment’s New York Times (6-14-16) seeks to create the illusion that only the fringe opposes registering women:

On Tuesday, the Senate approved an expansive military policy bill that would for the first

Take the offensive: The BBA Task Force website identifies the 28 states in blue that have calls to Congress for a (BBA) Con-con. If you live in a blue state, let's work to rescind.

“topic,” or model resolution, that has anywhere near that number of calls: a Balanced Budget Amendment (BBA) resolution.

The BBA Task Force claims, I think accurately, that already there are 28 states with valid calls to Congress for a BBA Con-con. So, we are vitally interested in getting rescissions in those 28 states. The BBA Task Force identifies those states in a color-coded map on their website. The website also lists what states they're currently targeting (<http://bba4usa.org/report/>).

After the November election, use our “Dagger in the Heart” campaign reprint to develop the understanding of receptive legislators (new and old) regarding the danger of a Con-con. If you live near the state capitol, visit them.

Once you find a legislator who is willing to introduce a rescission resolution, work to recruit, with the help of your sponsor, a co-sponsor in the other party, so the measure does not appear as a partisan issue. Your sponsor may also be able to suggest other legislators to target to build sufficient support for favorable action.

Please note: Appropriate rescission language is very important, as you want to be sure with one blow to rescind ALL prior Con-con calls from your state. We've posted such a model rescission resolution on our website (a link can be found on the “Expose the Article V Con-Con Fraud” campaign web page).

time require young women to register for the draft. The shift, while fiercely opposed by some conservative lawmakers and interest groups, had surprisingly broad support among Republican leaders and women in both parties....

“The fact is,” said Senator John McCain, Republican of Arizona and the chairman of the Armed Services Committee, “every single leader in this country, both men and women, members of the military leadership, believe that it's fair since we opened up all aspects of the military to women that they would also be registering for Selective Service.” [Emphasis added.]

As we emphasized in Organize for Victory!: “The best antidote to frustration with the Conspiracy’s advances is simply to immerse oneself in constructive action.” And regarding appropriate action, what Robert Welch wrote in January 1969 is still on target: “The greatest need of the American people today is an understanding of what is happening to them.”

Recommended action: Contact your congressmen and insist that women not be required to register for the draft. Share Media-Controlled Delusion with prospects. Use that tool to wake up others to the orchestrated illusion of mainstream support for revolution and enlist them in a Chapter.

It is not difficult to imagine the pressure, implied or direct, the administration was able to put on the service chiefs to support the revolution. The Times continued:

“I think the change is inevitable,” said Nora Bensahel, a military policy analyst at American University’s School of International Service, “whether in this debate or through the courts. It just seems that now that you have women allowed to serve in any position in the military, there is no logical basis to say women should not be drafted.”

Save Our Constitution!

by Andrew Carver

The purely defensive is doomed to defeat.

— Napoleon Bonaparte

Napoleon’s maxim applied to our campaign to prevent an Article V constitutional convention instructs us that we must not SIMPLY fight Con-con calls. We must also work — and work very hard — to get a great many standing calls rescinded.

34 is the magic number of state calls needed to trigger an Article V Con-con. There is only one Con-con

Campaign for Decency

— Curb the Courts

by Andrew Carver

“Conservative Christians in America are undergoing a huge shift in the way we see ourselves in the world,” [Southern Baptist Theological Seminary president Albert] Mohler says. “We are on the losing side of a massive change that’s not going to be reversed, in all likelihood, in our lifetimes.” In his view, Christians must adapt to the changed cultural circumstance by finding a way “to live faithfully in a world in which we’re going to be a moral exception.”

— NPR, 5-10-16

Many [religious social conservatives] have finally given up on the whole idea of a culture war or are willing to admit they lost it. They are determined only to remain who they are and to live as amiably and productively as they can in a culture that doesn’t look like them and doesn’t belong to them.

In time, this shift in outlook may bring about a more peaceable public sphere. But that will depend on others — especially the adherents of an ascendant social progressivism — declining to take full advantage of their newfound cultural dominance. I see few signs of that, but I am hopeful all the same.

— Barton Swaim,

“The left won the culture war. Will they be merciful?”

The Washington Post, 5-27-16

The greatest danger to the religious liberty of American Christians, and even more to their cultural dominance, is NOT the “judicial activism” of the Supreme Court. It is the defeatism that is now being openly sold to Christians! And since the ones selling them this defeatism are often their own religious “leaders,” it is likely that many are buying it.

What has happened though, what has changed, that might justify such defeatism? Nothing at all, except for one “tempest in a teapot” — the U.S. Supreme Court’s audacious redefinition of marriage.

The Constitution itself is unchanged; only the fanciful stories invented by its activist interpreters change and flow with “the times.” Nor has Article III disappeared — the passage that gives Congress authority to rein in a federal judiciary unchained from Constitutional intent.

We must tell our Christian friends, colleagues, and neighbors that there is no basis in the Supreme Court’s decision on “gay marriage” for pessimism, much less defeatism! Instead, the decision is a call to exert the Constitutional control we have through Congress via Article III. So Let’s Act! Enlist their help to pressure our congressmen to introduce a concurrent resolution similar to our model.

Website/Scorecard Promotion

In October, we began posting significant Sessions 2 (2016) votes for the 114th Congress.

One of the more outrageous measures was H.R. 2646, “Helping Families in Mental Health Crisis Act of 2016.” According to Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy (R-Calif.), a supporter, “The Federal Government has 112 programs to address mental illness.” The measure would update and build on those 112 programs.

The bill’s sponsor, Rep. Tim Murphy (R-Penn.) informs us: “Mental illness affects one in five Americans. About 10 million Americans have serious mental illness.” (We couldn’t help wondering how many that makes in Congress.)

Amazingly, only two representatives opposed the measure. Although the Senate has not yet considered H.R. 2646, don’t be surprised if it is rushed through next year.

Requested action: Email links to Session 2 roll calls and/or a congressman’s individual scorecard page; ask your contacts to help build a Congress that votes according to the Constitution by further sharing our unique Scorecard tool with their contacts; also, suggest that they bookmark their representative’s page so that they can check for updates when Congress is in the news.

Action Summary

Note: Some requests below are ongoing from previous Action Reports.

1. Share copies of Media-Controlled Delusion. Follow up to develop and recruit qualified prospects into a Chapter.
2. Build an audience for a group recruiting presentation. Contact our office to schedule a presentation of “The Hidden Agenda — Driving America’s Moral Decline.”
3. Invite good prospects to join FFS.
4. In states that have passed BBA Con-con calls, work to rescind all of your state’s Con-con calls. Contact legislators before the 2017 session begins.
5. Enlist non-members to pressure Congress to use its authority to limit the appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court (Art. III, Sec. 2).
6. Ask others to help build an accountable Congress by sharing our unique Scorecard.

News.com.com

Trashing the Constitution: In his June 4, 1999 weekly radio address, Pres. Clinton promised to use the rest of his term to improve the diagnosis and treatment of mental illness — an ongoing Big Brother agenda for control.